World Rabies Day is September 28

World Rabies Day is an opportunity to raise awareness about the burden of rabies prevention and control efforts worldwide. I hope you will join us in sharing messages leading up to and on September 28 to your clients and partners.

Our goal is to make it easy for you to promote the cause. To that end, we have printed and online resources available. If you would like more printed materials, you can see what is available on the clinic toolkit and place your order.

“Vaccines to prevent rabies in dogs and cats work. Treatment for bite victims is fully effective. What Rabies Free Africa uniquely does is engage communities and nations to consistently implement these approaches in a cost effective and sustainable manner. Only through this engagement will we meet our 2030 goal of zero human deaths from rabies.”

-Guy Palmer,
Regents Professor of Pathology and Infectious Diseases, The Jan and Jack Creighton Endowed Chair & Senior Director of Global Health

“It always surprises me that a lethal disease, for which we have a vaccine that is 100% effective, continues to threaten over half the world’s population and bring tragedy to unsuspecting families. If we achieve the relatively simple challenge of making sure all dogs are vaccinated, global elimination can become a reality. Vaccinate dogs!”
